

Published based on What Makes Women's Hair Loss Happen?

What Makes Women's Hair Loss Happen?

Everyone understands very well that hair loss for men is a very difficult condition to deal with. But many people are not aware of how much women's hair loss occurs in the population, and the impact on women is just as severe. This is something that women of all countries have to deal with, as well. In the western world, in particular, it can be a major cause of shame and embarrassment. Our society places a premium on women having luxurious and beautiful hair, no matter how old or young they may be. Getting thin or going bald is very hard for women to deal with. There is an equal amount of hair loss incidence in both genders. What are some of the causes of this hair loss?