Getting a Charcoal Barbeque Grill

When it comes to barbecue grill, there are many different types. Charcoal Barbecue Grills is often the most popular grill chosen by consumers. Yes, charcoal grill can be messy and dirty but the food usually tastes the best with these grills.

Now, because of so many charcoal barbecue grillers for sale in the market, what type are you going to choose? Ok, allow me to highlight some of the most popular and proven ones in this article.

Some of the popular ones include: Weber One-Touch Silver, Big Green Egg Griller and Char-Griller Outlaw. I'll cover a little on them now.

Weber One-Touch Silver comes in numerous sizes. It can be no more than 18" to 24" in diameter size. Additionally it is for sale in metallic and black colour. It is without doubt one of the hottest and perhaps the best so far out there. The name "Weber" stands for top quality in the BBQ Grill market. Manufactured by Weber-Stephen Products company, you can be sure that it is a awesome product.

Here's something that I don't really like: it is on a tripod stand. To be exact, it's actually one leg plus 2 wheels. I don't know about you, but this doesn't seem to be very stable and it is possible that someone can knock over the grill. Additionally, the steel plated cooking grates rust easily, which makes it a big minus.

The Big Green Egg Griller is a versatile griller with the flexibility to cook at high temperature and can become a smoker too. The whole product looks like an egg! However, this is a pretty expensive griller as it cost $700.

The Char-Griller Outlaw Charcoal Grill/Smoker boasts a large surface area of one thousand square inches of cooking area so you'll be able to put loads of stuff in for cooking. It also features a traditional style barrel grill which gives me the flexibility that I want. Quite long-lasting, I understand that it can last for almost a decade, even if you use this griller every month.

As it uses the traditional barrel grill, the temperature control for this griller can be hard. However, any BBQ experts can easily deal with it. This product is very affordable: Only $160+. This If you host a 50-100 people party, I'm sure that this would be an ideal grill for you.

I hope that above information will help you make some important decisions on buying the Charcoal Barbecue Grill that you might want.
