It's not a matter of just selecting whichever popcorn maker looks best. I wrote this article to address the various factors that should be considered before you decide on your new popcorn poppers size. I'll even tell you where you can go to buy a new popcorn maker.

The first issue that must be addressed is your budget, unless of course you have unlimited means. The expense usually increases with each popcorn maker size increase. Just because you are cheap, doesn't give you the right to purchase a machine that is much too small for your needs.

Next, you'll need to consider the size of the room that you'll be keeping your popcorn machine in. You won't want to get a large machine if your table is to be shared by many other household appliances.

Another thing to consider is the venue of your popcorn machine. Will you be using it to sell massive amounts of popcorn or will you be using it for home use? A popcorn machine that is only feeding one or two people will not need to be very large.

Many people do not take into account that time will need to be set aside to wash the popcorn poppers after each use. Remember that the larger the machine, the more space you will have to clean. Load and unload time is also shorter with a smaller popcorn popper.

People living by themselves should also consider the weight of the machine. You wouldn't want to buy a machine that is so large you can never move it. Fortunately, if you are not moving it often then this probably won't be an issue.

When you purchase a machine in an online shop like Popcorn Plaza, you won't have to worry about picking it up. It could even be possible to have your delivery person bring your popcorn machine into your kitchen for you. If you do choose to purchase from a local shop, you will want to think about your transportation for the machine. A giant sized popcorn machine may require a truck or a van to transport it home.

This article has only given you some of the issues you might want to look into prior to choosing a popcorn popper size. Take this list and use it as a jumping point to make your own list of needs for your new machine.
